

CITRUS GUIDE

Cara Cara Navel

Orange rind and pink/red flesh with sweet flavor; hints of berry. Fruit ripens: Winter-Spring

Fukumoto Navel

Large navel-sweet, juicy orange flesh. Compact grower ripens before Washington. Fruit ripens: Winter-Summer

Lane Late Navel

Bright orange, fairly smooth rind. Sweet and juicy; very high in vitamin C. Fruit ripens: Late Winter-Summer

Washington Navel

Deep orange, medium thick rind. An easy to peel seedless orange with rich flavor. Fruit ripens: Winter-Spring

Midnight Valencia

Medium large, oblong fruit. Larger fruit than Valencia. Very sweet with few seeds. Fruit ripens: Spring-Summer

Olinda Valencia

Compact sized tree; sweet orange for juicing or eating fresh. Fruit ripens: Spring-Summer

Smith Red Valencia

Red orange fruit with deep, rich red flesh, yet sweeter than blood orange. Fruit ripens: Winter-Spring

Moro Blood Orange

Deep red flesh, rind has dark blush. Slight bitter flavor with hint of raspberry. Fruit ripens: Winter-Spring

Sanguinelli Blood Orange

Deep orange rind and intensely crimson flesh. Sweet, perfumy, and very juicy. Fruit ripens: Winter-Spring

Tarocco Blood Orange

A medium sized sweet orange with semi-thin orange rind. Flesh is pink-red and juicy. Fruit ripens: Winter-Spring

Algerian Clem Nules Mandarin

Small fruit with pebbled rind; easy to peel. Very sweet, tender flesh. Fruit ripens: Winter-Spring

Dekopon Mandarin

aka Shiranui Mandarin. Easy to peel with low acid content. Sweet with mild tart. Fruit ripens: Winter - Spring

Gold Nugget Mandarin

Medium fruit with easy to peel, bumpy rind. Bright orange, sweet, seedless flesh. Fruit ripens: Late Spring-Summer

Honey Murcott Mandarin

Golden orange, pebbled rind clings to flesh. Very sweet and juicy; best for juicing. Fruit ripens: Mid-winter-Spring

Kishu Seedless Mandarin

Very small fruit is easy to peel. Sweet, rich and very juicy. Fruit ripens: Fall-Winter

Page Mandarin

A cross between Tangelo and Clementine Mandarin. Easy peel, few seeds. Fruit ripens: Early Fall-Winter

Pixie Mandarin

A later producing mandarin with seedless fruit that is juicy and easy to peel. Fruit ripens: Fall-Winter

Satsuma Mandarin

Medium, flattened shape. Loose, easy to peel rind; very sweet, tender flesh. Seedless. Fruit ripens: Early Fall-Winter

Tango Mandarin

Easy to peel with thin, pebbled rind. Bright orange flesh is sweet and juicy. Fruit ripens: Late Winter-Spring

Tahoe Gold Mandarin

Bright orange, thin rind with bright orange flesh. Great for snacking or juicing. Fruit ripens: Winter-Spring